David Berron

Head of Clinical Cognitive Neuroscience Group
German Center for Neurodegenerative Diseases (DZNE)

#ForschenfürGesundheit

Dr. David Berron has a background in psychology and holds a PhD in Cognitive Neuroscience. After a Marie Skłodowska Curie postdoctoral fellowship at Lund University in Sweden, he has been a junior group leader at DZNE since 2021. His research aims to develop disease-stage specific imaging and cognitive markers to monitor cognitive and brain decline. In addition to MRI, he also uses remote testing via apps in combination with novel biomarkers for future health care and clinical trial applications.

During his PhD, David Berron was also one of the founders and is still working as chief science officer of the start-up Neotiv.
